

The Brush and Palette

September 3, 2008

thebrushandpalette.wordpress.com

Volume 72 Issue 1

Back to school, make it a win!

Labelled bad Parker by Mrs. Sadler. Wait a turn.	The Activities $ 130	§	The Band Room $212	The Pool $ 196	?	The Quad $ 300	Caught By Billinger! Go to Detention.
Dr. Austin's Office $ 666	§erendipity						K. Turner Library $ 333
Guyer Field $ 260	<h1>LBHS OPOLY</h1>						Drama Room $ 183
?	Pick A Card ? To Determine Your Grades						?
Odile's French Matrix $ 100							Dugger Gym $ 275
Artists' Theater $ 399.99							Bathroom $ .99
§							§
Ceramics $ 400							Cafeteria $ 5
Free Period	Journalism $ 100,000,000	?	Mrs. Dunlap's Essays $ 80,000,000	Mr. McGuire's Lectures $ 50,000,000	§	Mr. Sogo's Lab $ 90,000,000	First Day of School (start)

Welcome freshmen!

This is the Brush and Palette's first-ever first-week issue. As we were meeting to discuss the upcoming journalism year, we were surprised to see the clean-shaven face of art teacher Peter Tiner. Immediately, we were struck with the idea to feature him and his 'new do' in our first issue. Unfortunately, however, that issue would be released a month or so after the first day of school, old news by then. Needless to say, we decided to release a mini first-week paper. We give credit to Mr. Tiner for inspiring us. Upon further thought, we realized what a great opportunity this would be to welcome the freshmen. We know all of you will bring so much to this school. Don't believe all of the rumors you hear, the upperclassmen probably won't torment you... too much.